

Sandra Testani, CFA, CAIA®

Head of ETF Product and Strategy

Sandra Testani is Head of ETF Product and Strategy for American Century Investments. She is based in the New York City office.

In her role, Sandra drives strategic product initiatives to launch new products and oversees the existing offerings. She works closely with chief investment officers, portfolio managers and analysts to understand each strategy's investment process and is responsible for developing messaging, competitive positioning and sales force education. In addition, she conducts in-depth market, asset class and category research studies that support her coverage areas.

Prior to joining American Century Investments in 2015, she spent 15 years as a vice president at AllianceBernstein, focusing on product management and development for the firm's alternatives platform across its private client, institutional and retail distribution channels. She was a member of the Alternative Investment Management Committee, which oversaw the firm's multimanager hedge fund offerings. She had previously held roles focused on asset allocation recommendations and research within its private client group. She has worked in the investment industry since 2000.

Sandra holds a bachelor's degree in international relations with a concentration in business and economics from Boston University. She is a CFA and CAIA® charterholder.
