Portfolio Construction and Analytics - Biographies

Jeremy Deering, CFA
Director, Portfolio Construction and Analytics

Jeremy Deering, CFA, is director of Portfolio Analysis for American Century Investments, an independent, privately controlled, pure-play asset management firm founded in 1958.

Jeremy is responsible for consulting with intermediary and institutional clients on asset allocation. In this role, he works with clients on evaluating their investment models and offering recommendations for possible enhancements.

In his previous role at the firm, Jeremy was a senior global product analyst, where he spent the majority of his time conducting competitor and market analysis for institutional clients. He joined American Century Investments in 2009 as a senior institutional product manager for the firm's U.S. growth equity strategies. Prior to that, Jeremy worked in the Institutional Sales & Marketing group at Waddell & Reed Financial.

Jeremy earned a bachelor's degree in biology from the University of Kansas and an MBA with a concentration in finance from Baker University. He holds both his series 7 and 63 licenses and is a CFA charterholder.

Brent Evans, CFA
Director, Portfolio Construction Analytics

Brent Evans, CFA, is Director of Portfolio Construction Analytics for American Century Investments, an independent, privately controlled, pure-play asset management firm founded in 1958.

Brent began his career on an algorithmic trade desk before joining American Century in 2005. After he served in roles supporting brokerage clients and investment operations, he left the firm in 2013 to become Director of Investment Management for a multi-billion dollar wealth management firm. In this position for seven years, he created, implemented, and oversaw all aspects of portfolio construction, security selection, and investment strategy. Brent rejoined American Century in 2021 in his current role, where he is responsible for consulting with intermediary and institutional clients on portfolio construction and asset allocation. He partners with those clients, analyzing their portfolios and providing recommendations to improve risk/reward tradeoffs.

Brent earned a B.S. in Business Administration from the University of Kansas and an MBA from The Johns Hopkins University Carey Business School. He is a CFA Charterholder and holds the FINRA series 7 and 63 licenses.