

Yulia Kosiw

Client Portfolio Manager, Global Fixed Income

Based in the New York office of American Century Investments, Yulia is responsible for representing portfolio management in communicating fixed-income investment strategies and results to firm clients.

Before joining American Century, Yulia was a client portfolio manager at Global Evolution, where she supported client engagement, portfolio communications and business development efforts for the firm's emerging and frontier markets debt platform.

She brings more than a decade of experience across fixed-income, multi-asset and alternative strategies, serving institutional investors, financial advisors and consultants. She began her career in the investment industry in 2008.

Yulia holds a bachelor's degree in political science and international relations from Syracuse University.
